These encounters opened Jodorowsky's eyes to the hidden dimensions of reality, the power of dreams, and the transformative potential of consciousness. He began to develop his own unique spiritual practices, blending elements of shamanism, tarot, and psychology.

Psychomagic and the Power of Art

Jodorowsky's spiritual journey also led him to develop psychomagic, a therapeutic technique that uses art and symbolic actions to heal psychological wounds and facilitate transformation.

Through his films, such as "El Topo" (1970) and "The Holy Mountain" (1973), Jodorowsky explores the subconscious mind, challenges social norms, and invites viewers to confront their own inner darkness.
